WRECKAGE—A 16-year-old Circleville girl is listed in stable condition at University Hospital in Columbus, with massive head injuries she sustained in a single-car accident, 5:30 p.m. Thursday. Diane Stevenson, 16, 404 N. Scioto St. was a passenger in a car driven by William Wesley Morgan, 19, of Columbus. Morgan, apparently traveling at a high rate of speed, lost control of the auto on the wet pavement and traveled off the roadway. The vehicle came to rest on its side.

3 Injured In 1-Car Mishap

Pickaway County Sheriff's Authorities investigated a single-car accident, 5:30 p.m. Thursday, which caused minor injuries to two teenagers and seriously injured a third.

William Wesley Morgan, 19, Columbus, was traveling east, apparently at a high rate of speed, on the Circleville-Tarlton-Northern Road approaching the intersection Morris-Leist Road.

Morgan lost control of the vehicle on the wet roadway and traveled broadside striking the guardrail. The impact caused the auto to swerve and land on its top in a ditch. An occupant, Diane Stevenson, 16, 404 N. Scioto St. was trapped in the wreckage for 20 minutes before deputies and ambulance attendants could remove her.

Miss Stevenson was transferred to University Hospital in Columbus where she is listed in stable condition with massive head injuries.

Morgan was treated and released from Berger Hospital for minor head and neck injuries. Another passenger, Karen G. Payne, 17, 405 N. Scioto St., was also treated at the hospital for abrasions and contusions.

Deputy James Dixon cited Morgan with reckless operation with investigation of the accident continuing.

A motorcyclist and passenger were treated and released from Berger Hospital for injuries sustained when a tire blew-out on the cycle, 12:40 p.m. Wednesday.

According to the report taken by Deputy Warren Straley, Raymond E. Walisa, 27, 224 Third Ave., was westbound on Route 22 when the rear tire of the cycle blew-out causing him to lose control.

The cycle left the pavement and came to rest in a ditch.

A passenger, Margaret A. Walisa, 26, 224 Third Ave., received contusions and abrasions.

A deer was killed when it ran into the path of a car driven by Danny L. Robinson, 32, Route 3, Thursday, on the Circleville-Groveport Road.

The animal was released to a New Holland resident.

Ford Tells Allies U.S. Still Strong

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — President Ford has told America's European allies not to worry about the military strength of the United States, its economy and its political system.

In his speech at the opening Thursday of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's two-day summit meeting, Ford conceded that the Communist victories in South Vietnam and Cambodia "have led some to question our strength and reliability."

"I believe that our strength speaks for itself," he declared, "our military power remains, and will continue to remain, second to none. Of this let there be no doubt. Our economy remains fundamentally sound and productive, and our political system has emerged from the shocks of the past year stronger for the way in which it met a severe internal test."

He assured the allies "the United States of America, unconditionally and unequivocally, remains true to the commitments undertaken when we signed the North Atlantic Treaty, including the obligation in Article 5 to come to the assistance of any NATO nation subjected to armed attack."

Turning to problems facing the alliance, he called for maintenance of a "strong and credible defense" and more effective use of defense resources, including standardization of procedures and equipment.

Hitting at France and Greece, he called for "unqualified participation" in the alliance, not "partial membership or special arrangements." He also said "we should begin now to consider how to relate Spain with Western defense" and added: "Spain has already made, and continues to make, an important contribution to Western military security as a result of its bilateral relationship with the United States."

The President met for 45 minutes at the U.S. Embassy with one of the leaders of Portugal's new leftist military regime, Premier Vasco Goncalves. Aides said Ford told Goncalves "it would be unfortunate and somewhat incompatible with the purposes of NATO" if the Communists gained control of Portugal. They said Goncalves replied that his government does not intend to be NATO's "Trojan horse" and would not drop out of the alliance.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the session was "very frank."

Ford also met for nearly half an hour with President alery Giscard d'Estaing of France after a dinner at the Royal Palace for the leaders attending the summit. White House press secretary Ron Nessen reported that five topics were discussed: Southeast Asia, American relations with Western Europe and its moves toward unification, the leftward turn of Portugal's government, assistance to the underdeveloped world and ways of getting started again on talks with the oil-exporting countries.

Winning Ohio Lottery Numbers

The Ohio Lottery Commission said the regular weekly numbers drawing held in connection with the Buckeye 300 turned up these numbers: 734 for the single set and 886-252 for the double set.

The Lucky Buck numbers were 300 and 345-083.

Ships Collide In Gulf

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An empty tanker collided with a cargo ship in the Gulf of Mexico early today, but the Coast Guard said neither vessel was in danger of sinking.

Three crewmen aboard the cargo ship were reported injured slightly. There were reports that most of the 42-man crew abandoned the tanker and were aboard vessels that were standing by.

A Coast Guard spokesman said a small fire broke out aboard the tanker and 10 crewmen were fighting it. He said the blaze could not be seen by observation aircraft over the scene.

The collision occurred during heavy thundershowers about 95 miles southeast of Galveston, Tex., about 2 a.m., the Coast Guard said.

The vessels were identified as the 690-foot Alkes, a Liberian tanker, and the 893-foot Delta Mar, a container-cargo ship owned by Delta Steamship Lines Inc. of New Orleans.

Hoosier Solon Under Attack

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — House Speaker Phillip E. Bainbridge was "too involved with utility lobbyists" during the 1975 session, a fellow Democratic state legislator has charged.

Rep. B. Patrick Bauer of South Bend said Thursday he wrote the Indiana attorney general to determine how the state ethics law applies to Bainbridge.

The speaker, reached at his office in Highland, responded Bauer "has shown himself to be a little bit arbitrary sometimes when he doesn't get his way."

Bauer asked Atty. Gen. Theodore L. Sendak whether gifts of more than $200 could be accepted when they do not apply to the election of an individual and are made outside a campaign period.

Drug Chief Quits; Corruption Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the federal narcotics agency is resigning under pressure from the White House and the Justice Department amid probes of reported corruption, sources say.

Government sources said John R. Bartels Jr., head of the Drug Enforcement Administration since it was created in July 1973, was bowing to a White House request spurred by a Justice Department investigation. Bartels was unreachable and a spokesman for Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi refused to comment.

The Justice Department acknowledged May 2 that it had been conducting a special investigation since March into possible mismanagement or corruption within the agency. The investigation reportedly ranged from rumors of sexual escapades by agents to mismanagement by top officials.

The Senate permanent subcommittee on investigations scheduled hearings in June on reports of "gross corruption."

The agency was formed to consolidate government narcotics control programs. Since its inception, the DEA has been at the center of controversies involving rival agencies, many of whose antinarcotics roles it absorbed.

One office said these controversies added to the pressure on Bartels, 41, who formerly directed the federal organized crime strike force in New Jersey.

Although Bartels once expressed enthusiasm for the Justice Department probe, one government source said he was "quite disturbed."

"It's been a barrage of things that convinced him that for the good of the entire narcotics effort he should resign," the source said.

"The morale of the department is bad and his time has been taken up defending himself," said another person familiar with the situation.

Levi said at a news conference Thursday that he was not satisfied with the performance of the Drug Enforcement Administration, but he also said he had not read a Justice Department report on Bartels and his agency prepared at the attorney general's request.

"I understand the report is not going to accuse him of any heinous deeds," said one source.

Economic Outlook Little Changed, Figures Indicate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration said today that unemployment and the recession will be worse this year than it estimated earlier, but should be followed by a stronger economic recovery next year.

In its mid-year budget and economic review, the administration predicted unemployment will average 8.7 per cent, or about 7.8 million workers, for the year. The administration predicted as recently as February that unemployment would average 8.1 per cent this year.

The forecast, if true, means that the jobless rate probably will rise above 9 per cent later this year. The April rate of unemployment was 8.9 per cent.

The report, which will be sent to Congress, also predicted that:

—The nation's economy will decline by 3.6 per cent this year, compared with the administration's original prediction of a 3.3 per cent decline.

—The economy will rebound with a strong 6.3 per cent growth next year, better than the 4.8 per cent growth forecast earlier.

—The rate of inflation, as reflected by consumer prices, will increase 9.1 per cent this year over 1974, compared with a February projection for a 10.8 per cent increase.

The administration stuck by its projected fiscal year 1976 budget deficit of nearly $60 billion, which is below the $68 billion deficit target set by Congress. The deficit in fiscal 1975 will be $42.6 billion, the report said.

Although the over-all economic outlook was somewhat improved, there was little hope in the new forecast for an improved unemployment rate.

The report said unemployment will average 7.9 per cent in 1976, equal to 7.1 million workers, the same as forecast in the February economic outlook.

In its outlook for the economy after 1976, the administration said unemployment could average 7.2 per cent in 1977, 6.5 per cent in 1978, 5.8 per cent in 1979 and 5.1 per cent in 1980.

These projections were somewhat improved from the February figures, but the report said that the figures were extremely tentative and based on an economic growth rate of 6.5 per cent during the four-year period.

In its February estimate, the administration had projected unemployment at 7.5 per cent in 1977, 6.9 per cent in 1978, 6.2 per cent in 1979 and 5.5 per cent in 1980.

The employment outlook was severely criticized by many members of Congress who said such high unemployment for the next three years would be intolerable.

However, administration officials, including some who appeared to disagree with the figures, said they weren't projections at all, but assumptions based on the current trend of the economy. They said the Ford administration would try to achieve a better employment result.

Democratic leaders such as Sens. William Proxmire of Wisconsin and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota have indicated they fail to find much of a distinction between assumptions and projections and have called on the administration to develop policies for a much improved jobless outlook.

Meanwhile, a government index designed to anticipate the economy's future increased 4.2 per cent in April, the biggest monthly increase in the history of the index.

It was the second straight month the so-called Composite Index of Indicators had increased. If May also shows an increase, economists said they could likely conclude that an economic upturn would begin within months.

Turbulent Weather Hits Southland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Turbulent spring weather continued today in the southern plains and part of the lower Mississippi Valley.

The National Weather Service reported severe thunderstorm activity was widespread throughout an area extending northward from Oklahoma and Kansas into the Great Lakes region. Heavy rains also continued in portions of the Ohio Valley.

A number of flash flood watches remained in effect for portions of northwest Missouri and south central Texas as heavy rains and thunderstorm activity continued in those areas. Similar advisories for eastern and southern Oklahoma were cancelled early today.

Elsewhere, fair skies and warm temperatures prevailed over much of New England, the northern plains and Southern California coast. Cool weather lingered over the Rocky Mountain region where near freezing temperatures were recorded in parts of northeast Colorado.

Temperatures early today ranged from 83 at Key West, Fla., and Corpus Christi, Tex. to 33 at Laramie, Wyo.

Memorial Airport News

By LEE JACKSON
Airport Manager

Instead of starting off with the old "Fat Partridge In a Pear Tree" thing, lets talk about grass for a minute. Not the kind you smoke, but the kind you have in abundance around your home and your airport. That thing our wives tell us we have to cut before we go golfing or fishing and seems to grow faster than the kids' demands for money.

Anyhow, it seems we have an airport constructed for a cost of over $200,000 (I would imagine, and I'm guessing).

Now, down to the nitty-gritty.

Why do Charles Fletcher and Burl Tatman have to donate their tractor and Oliver Gifford a bushhog to mow a county airport? That one I will answer for you, but I hope you'll get me the answer for the next one.

It seems the Airport Authority has deemed it necessary to only mow the grounds three times a year, and then only parts of it. That's fine if you are running a summer camp for Tarzan and the Banana-chewer quartet.

But, an airport that can be used as a picnic grounds and play area and will attract business and general aviator business must be kept neat. If it's not, then you have no more than you've had the past four years.

So, Burl and Charlie, along with Oliver and many others including myself, have given what is needed to make it the way it should be and I hope the way you want it to be.

Now, I've answered that one and it's your turn.

Question - Our lease says the county is to furnish the equipment to mow the grounds and I don't think "the county" means Charlie Fletcher, Burl Tatman, or Oliver Gifford.

I've volunteered to keep it mowed on my own time if they'll just give me the equipment.

Now, I'm not criticizing anyone and I may get run out of town on a rail but I figure if it takes the county as long to build the rail as it does to get me a tractor, I've got at least 50 years to live it up.

Honestly, they just have to know that you support what we are doing. So please call or write the county commissioners. I need your help.

If someone doesn't soon mow McCrady Rd., I'm going to rename it Black Bart's Gulch. That is if I don't get trampled by a herd of grass-eating kangaroos trying to find the road sign.

New student is Dave Drum. His wife JoAnne is getting more flying time in than he is but he's the student.

New face here is Dave Valentine. A new student last week and a part time employee this week. Where you been all my life, Dave? Don't confuse Dave with the Bird in the Tree. Dave can't fly yet.

Hey, I just stopped and read what I've written above and if The Herald prints it, there will have to be more rails built as I'm kind of wide at the berm. But cheer up, 50 years is a long time.

Well, we'll see you again next week and don't forget to make those phone calls or write those letters, sports fans. (That's airports fans).

Davis is a native of Ambrose, N.D., and has been a career employee of the agency since 1952.

Housing Begins To Stir

One of the industries economists have been watching closely as a barometer of improving economic conditions is housing. Perhaps because housing has been in a slump for more than two years and was hit harder than most other industries in the recession, housing construction is expected to come back strongly when conditions are right. In April, the housing industry noted a 27 percent increase in building permits—a hopeful sign that generally is followed within two months by actual construction starts. If that chain of events materializes, it could have a strong revival effect, not only in housing but also in related industries. Construction is off 37 per cent compared to this time last year. That is why the April upsurge in building permits takes on a special significance. With interest rates on the declining side, money available for housing and even some craftsmen offering to work for less wages than they had previously, the climate for a housing revival is right.

Playing Against All Odds

By JIM BISHOP

There is a place where there is no day, no night, no sleep. It is the kept woman of America — Las Vegas, Nevada. Quadrennially, Kelly and I visit Vegas to pay our last respects to our money.

Coming in by plane, Vegas looks like an automobile junkyard glistening in a tawny desert. There is little to see walking up and down The Strip. Tourists tend to remain inside the plushiest hotels in the world.

There, drapes are drawn. I see no clocks, no calendars — nothing but the dazzling light from ornate crystal chandeliers. We had, at one time or another, stayed at the best hotels. The newest marvel is the MGM Grand Hotel, and we and our poke are in Room 2230.

It was built a couple of millions ago by Kirk Kerkorian, who sells airlines, buys Hollywood studios, then invests the movie money in a hotel which can be described as a city. He got Al Benedict, a genial smiler, to help him build it and run it.

They gambled $125 million and won. My wife put $20 in the slot machines and returned to our room with a black hand. The casino is 420 feet long, 150 wide. Jim Mahoney wanted to bet me 8-to-5 I wouldn't find Kelly in a half-hour. I refused. Poor odds.

It seems strange to state, that in a town this small, there are more big-name stars than in Hollywood. The shows are as lavish as anything I remember from the days of Ziegfeld, George White or Earl Carroll.

The stages are broader, the choreography impressive, and each hotel puts on rows and rows of dancing girls in highly expensive costumes. Which leads to a new thought — Vegas makes its money on gambling, but it spends it on entertainment.

A dozen years ago, Ben Blue was playing in a lounge — not a theater — and he told me he was getting $14,000 a week. The big star at the hotel was Eddie Fisher.

To Kelly, gambling is like an evil fascination — she knows it's bad, so she overrules her conscience and plays. I like the dice and blackjack; she likes the slots and roulette. If she wins, her face looks like a little girl who just got her first Barbie Doll.

If she loses, she puts on her fake I-don't-really-care smile and her color drains from the mascara south. She used to go to the Desert Inn and stare at two dice under glass. They were illuminated by a spotlight in the ceiling.

A forgotten old lady handled those dice. She didn't know how to shoot craps, but she took the dice and made 45 straight passes. To those who do not know the game, this means that she won 45 successive times.

After she made the fifth straight pass, the word was transmitted from eyeball to eyeball that somebody was "hot" at the dice table. Professional gamblers put hundreds, then thousands, of dollars on the table cheering the old lady hoarse.

They made a fortune. She only bet $2 a roll and came out $90 ahead. I count more middle-aged ladies in the

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor: I received a letter from my son, T-Sgt. George E. Jacobs, a couple of weeks ago and I would like to share a portion of it with the readers of The Herald. Sgt. Jacobs and his family have been stationed in the Philippines for over a year and will be there two more years. He is a graduate of Circleville High School and is married to the former Pauline Dixon, a graduate of Logan Elm. They have a daughter, Sandra Rae.

He wrote: "Sorry that I've been so long in answering your letter. As you have probably seen and heard on the news, we have been pretty busy here lately. Both Pauline and I have been putting in some long hours this past month. Both of us worked with the Vietnam refugees."

"It was all voluntary and on my off duty time. The adults had some really interesting stories to tell. I felt especially concerned for the children. Some of them were in really bad shape, everything from the common cold to TB. The majority of them were pretty healthy, though."

"I really enjoyed working with them and was glad that I had the opportunity to help, even though my part was so small. I hear on the news now that the majority of the people back there don't want the Vietnamese to stay. How selfish can anyone be? I can't really see their way of thinking."

"Every war that has ever been fought has had its refugees. But now, because the times are getting a little rough at home, nobody wants anything to do with these people who need help so desperately. Nothing was said when the Jewish came into the country from Russia not so long ago."

"And how about all the refugees from Korea and China? I'm sure they were welcomed with open arms. So what makes these people so different? Folks back there should have started worrying about their job security a long time ago, not now. Sorry that I took up so much of your time, but I feel very strongly on this issue, and had to tell someone how I felt."

I'm glad they had the opportunity to work with these unfortunate people.

Sincerely,

Bob Rice at the Dunes had a heart attack while holding a poker hand. He died, still holding the five pasteboards. Mr. Rice was a gentleman of quality and was held in esteem by his conferees. The players were stunned. One of them, suddenly recalling the proper priorities, whispered, "Okay. Let's deal around him."

Vegas is a great town for poor priests and rabbis. The hotel owners sometimes sell a prime piece of property to them for $1. The collection baskets, quite often, have little cash in them. They are full of chips. Lucky gamblers show a measure of gratitude by dropping $25 and $50 gambling chips in the church poor box.

While writing this, I pulled back the drapes and found that there is daylight outside. Always remember, Howard Hughes owns part of Las Vegas, but no one ever caught him gambling here. . .

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — You would probably have more peace of mind if you didn't look for the answers today, at least the answers to the economic puzzle that confuses us daily.

While the explanations to economic phenomena never are clear, they usually are a bit less murky than they are now. It may be the problems themselves that defy explanation; it may be the timing only.

That is, most economists are agreed on one thing: We are now approaching the period when the recession is losing its downward momentum but we are not yet in an upturn, and probably won't be for a few months more.

That leaves a situation in which one economist after another is issuing statements that "the consumer soon will be in a buying mood," or "the worst is over for the auto slump," or "stock buyers more confident now."

But those are forecasts, and they don't necessarily jibe with the facts. The future is confused with the present.

General Motors forecasts returning health for automotive sales, but so far the sales statistics don't buttress that faith. Ford and Chrysler don't share it. Neither do some nervous Wall Street analysts.

There are some fears among the latter that GM could overproduce again, resulting in rising inventories and, most disheartening of all, a renewal of shutdowns and layoffs.

The answer, of course, lies off in the future, which helps not a bit to relieve the tensions of today. In the transition period between a shrinking economy and an expanding economy there lie many mysteries, and few answers.

Also somewhat mystifying to most people, it seems safe to say, is the rationale of an oil import tariff of an additional $1 a barrel, as imposed by President Ford. The intent is to reduce U.S. reliance on foreign energy.

While that much seems clear enough, the confusion comes when you realize that the tariff isn't projected to reduce American reliance on imports, except in a relative sense. Actual imports are expected to continue to rise.

The impact of the tariff, it seems, will be to reduce the rate of increase. But it now appears that unless new sources of energy are developed the United States might always be somewhat reliant on foreign sources.

An area of confusion that affects millions of Americans very directly lies in the housing category of the economy. Despite rebates and predictions, private and governmental, housing remains stuck in the mud.

Instead of rushing out to get mortgages, many potential home buyers seem content to continue what they have been doing for the past year or so; that is, they build their bank accounts and pay off their debts.

In a transitional economy, it seems, people don't let go of their foothold until they can reach out and grab the future. For the moment, it seems to be just beyond their reach.

"I thought my car was the only thing that could go from zero to sixty in ten seconds!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Why are infections around the nose and upper lip considered particularly dangerous? Our doctor is always so concerned when any of us has an infection in that area.

Mrs. H. Z., Ohio

Dear Mrs. Z.:

Concern about infections anywhere in the body is based on the fact that germs may invade the blood stream and set up housekeeping in some distant part of the body.

The body defenses against infection are remarkable. When a signal is sent out that an infection has set in, more blood is brought to the area to bring the white blood cells to surround and destroy the germs.

The pus that is formed is an index of how good the body defenses are. Pus is a mixture of dead germs and exhausted white blood cells that have accomplished their purpose.

The reason that infections around the lips and the nose are worrisome is that any spread from this area may threaten the deep tissues in the neck and even the brain.

Fortunately, the active use of antibiotics minimizes the danger of septicemia, or blood poisoning, that occurs when germs enter the blood.

A simple warning is important. No pimple should ever be squeezed. This only increases the danger of pushing germs into the blood stream.

I had a "shoulder separation" when I was a young boy. I've always been curious about what this means.

Mr. G. S. O., Maine

Dear Mr. O.:

A "shoulder separation" is a tear of the ligaments and the muscles that attach the collar bone (clavicle) to the shoulder blade (scapula).

Unless this painful injury is treated with splints and rest, permanent limitation of motion of the shoulder can occur.

The degree of separation, partial or complete, determines the need for other forms of treatment. Sometimes, surgery is necessary to remove bone chips and to realign the ligaments.

Such injuries must not be casually treated for there is always the possibility that with neglect, limitation of motion and disability may result.

Bigger Trucks On State Roads Approved By Ohio House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill allowing bigger trucks to travel Ohio highways passed the House Wednesday, despite protests that the trucks already are large enough to scare the wits out of ordinary motorists.

The House passed 78-15 and sent to the Senate the measure, which increases weight limits by a ton and length limits by five feet.

The small band of opponents argued the trucks already are too large. Rep. James W. Rankin, D-25 Cincinnati, urged his colleagues to "let us not let the truck lobby run over us."

The bill is sponsored by Rep. Arthur

Bowers, D-98 Steubenville, who said it conforms state law to new federal legislation.

He said the bill also will help fight the energy shortage by allowing trucks to haul more freight on fewer gallons.

But his position was attacked by Rankin, who said Congress adopted the higher weight limits only through a quirk in parliamentary procedure and now is attempting to repeal the higher limits.

Rankin said the weight limits were quietly tacked onto the Federal Aid Highways Act in the closing days of the last Congress.

Congressmen had to pass the highway act, Rankin said, but could not remove the truck rider, so it also became law. He said another bill to repeal the increased weights was introduced a month later.

"Ohio motorists will be faced with the possibility of 40-ton monsters grinding down the highways," Rankin said. "Drivers are already afraid of the existing size of trucks."

The bill increases allowable length of the semi-trailer trucks from 55 to 60 feet and maximum gross weight from 78,000 pounds to 80,000 pounds.

It raises maximum axle load from 19,000 pounds to 20,000 pounds and increases the maximum tandem axle load from 32,000 pounds to 34,000 pounds.

The bill, if passed by the Senate, would take effect 90 days after being signed by the governor.

Auto Tag Hike Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Akron lawmaker has introduced a bill that would add a surtax, based on weight and value, to the present $10 auto registration fee.

The proposed tax is intended as a deterrent to the purchase of "gas-guzzling cars," he said.

The surtax on a car weighing more than 3,500 pounds would amount to 1 1/4 per cent of its original cost, throughout the life of the car.

Cars weighing 3,500 pounds or less would be subject to the same 1 1/4 per cent tax, but the tax would decrease annually, until in the ninth year it would be applied to only 10 per cent of the car's base value.

"The major purpose of the bill," said Rep. Pete Crossland, D-42 Akron, "is to make those who buy gas-guzzling cars actually pay for their use."

"The big car is a notorious waste of gasoline, and in these times of serious energy problems the state must take responsibility for more closely monitoring the use of our energy resources."

Conservative Group Takes Aim At Liberals

WASHINGTON (AP) — From a renovated Capitol Hill carriage house once inhabited by astrologers, a conservative stalwart is planning his own horror-scope for those he regards as congressional liberals.

"The astrologers who lived here saw it in the stars, that it was time to move on," says Paul M. Weyrich. He says this is just what he has in mind for House members and senators he calls radicals who must go.

Weyrich, 32, is director of the Committee for the Survival of a Free Congress. He's set up shop with four assistants, funded in part with money from the Coors beer fortune.

Over the signature of Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, the committee mailed 100,000 letters appealing for $2 million to defeat 100 "of the most liberal, anti-business and pro-welfare congressmen." Weyrich is targeting 25 of these as the most-beatable by conservative candidates.

The committee has raised $412,000 since it organized last July. The McClure letter reportedly drew in $40,000. More fund-raising mailings are planned over the names of other conservative politicians.

The mailings are being handled by Richard Viguerie, direct mail specialist for Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace's presidential campaign.

The 25 congressmen were picked on the basis of their voting record in the first three months in the House. "Eighty to 100 per cent of the time they vote on the liberal side," said Weyrich.

Not all of the so-called liberals in Congress will be on the committee's blacklist.

"Emotionally, the two symbolic congressmen our conservative friends always talk about are Ronald V. Dellums (D-Calif) and Bella S. Abzug (D-N.Y.). The No. 1 person I might like to see out of Congress is Les Aspin (D-Wis.). But he has that district sewed up," said Weyrich.

"It would be stupid to put our resources into those areas. We're not going to win there. And as much as I would prefer to see them retired, I don't want to waste the contributors' money."

Those he considers highly vulnerable are:

Thomas Ashley, D-Ohio; Alvin Baldus, D-Wis.; Michael T. Blouin, D-Iowa; M. Robert Carr, D-Mich.; Norman E. D'Amours, D-N.H.; Thomas J. Downey, D-N.Y.; Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass.; Glenn English, D-Okla.; David W. Evans, D-Ind.; Joseph L. Fisher, D-Va.;

Harold E. Ford, D-Tenn.; Thomas R. Harkin, D-Iowa; Philip H. Hayes, D-Ind.; Allan T. Howe, D-Utah; Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind.; John W. Jenrette Jr., D-S.C.; John Krebs, D-Calif.; Abner J. Mikva, D-Ill.; Matthew F. McHugh, D-N.Y.;

Edward W. Pattison, D-N.Y.; J. Edward Roush, D-Ind.; Martin A. Russo, D-Ill.; Gladys N. Spellman, D-Md.; Timothy E. Wirth, D-Colo.; and James Weaver, D-Ore.

Weyrich has been active in conservative movements here for years. He was a founder and first president of the Heritage Foundation, a tax-exempt organization started in 1973 "to fill the need for in-depth research and long-range issue projection in behalf of traditional values."

To try to defeat the targeted congressmen and stretch dollars, Weyrich hopes to hire experts in various fields, such as the media, advertising, and politics, and make them available to conservative candidates.

He said those conservative candidates who are well organized may receive actual money contributions from the committee.

Under the new campaign law, the committee can give up to $5,000 to each candidate per election.

The rest of the group's purge list will surface before the end of the year, said Weyrich. "Some congressmen have expressed disappointment they weren't included. We're happy to accommodate them."

Although the fund-raising letter was written on McClure's U.S. Senate stationery, the senator claimed little knowledge of who the targeted congressmen are or why they were selected.

"I'm not anxious to get in personal fights up here," said McClure. "I don't want to get involved in the personalities that are involved in politics up here any more than is absolutely necessary."

"I'll leave that up to the committee. I'll talk about the philosophies. Then you can identify them (the congressmen) yourself," said McClure.

The senator also made it clear that, because of his distaste over personal fights, he will not sign any letter the committee plans in an effort to capture Senate seats.

As of now, Weyrich thinks conservative candidates have a chance to win the Senate seats held by Frank E. Moss, D-Utah; Vance Hartke, D-Ind.; Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D.; and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

Most of the 11,000 contributors gave an average of $15 each to the conservative cause, said Weyrich. He estimates the cost of running the office at $10,000 a month, including salaries.

Among the biggest contributors are the producers of Coors beer in Colorado. Weyrich said they collectively gave $20,000, a sum which came not only from the Coors family but from others associated with the Coors industries.

THRIFTY CREAM OF ASPARAGUS SOUP

Worth knowing about!
1½ quarts asparagus ends (the part snapped off and usually discarded)
3 cups water
Milk
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tablespoons flour
1¼ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper

From 3½ to 4 pounds of medium-thick asparagus spears will give the amount of ends needed. Scrub in cold water and drain. Boil gently, covered, with the water until tender — about 30 minutes. Whirl ends and cooking liquid in an electric blender; force through a fine strainer and discard fibrous part in strainer — there should be about 3¾ cups thin puree; add enough milk to make 4 cups. In a medium saucepan melt the butter; stir in the flour; gradually stir in the puree. Cook over moderately low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and boiling; stir in salt and pepper. Makes about 1 quart.

Armstrong; Mrs. Pauline Cook read "History Of The American Flag;" and Mrs. Bowman read "Tribute To Old Glory." The program was concluded with a vocal solo by Mrs. Chestora Peters "In Beautiful Ohio."

Mrs. Bowman's closing thought for the evening was "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof" Lev. 25:10; "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty" II Cor. 3:17.

Mrs. Bonnie Koch was chairman of the informal social hour held in the dining room following the meeting. The centerpiece on the serving table was a miniature reproduction of Flanders Field over which flew the American Flag and enhanced with red, white, and blue candles. On the long tables were small vases of spring flowers interspersed with tiny flags.

The next regular meeting of the chapter will be June 10th. It will be past matrons and patrons night and a Humboldt Lodge Men's Chorus of Columbus will provide the entertainment.

Heavy Primary For Central Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A mayor under indictment for alleged theft in office and conversion of public money is seeking his second term in New Philadelphia's primary election Tuesday.

Mayor Lloyd F. Dinger, 52, is in a three-way race for the Republican nomination. Neither of his opponents, councilmen William J. Ress, 34, or James R. Yelverton, 55, have made the indictments an issue in the race.

Dinger was indicted in December by a county grand jury. He is accused of two counts of theft in office, two of conversion of public money, two of fraudulent conversion and two of perjury in connection with $3,120 which allegedly is missing from the city police mayor's court.

No trial date has been set. Dinger denies the charges.

The winner of that primary will face the unopposed Democratic nominee, David S. Knisely, 25, a magna cum laude graduate of Case Western Reserve University who holds a masters degree in public administration from Harvard University.

In neighboring Dover, one mayoralty candidate already has split with the city police department.

Democratic Councilman Jerry L. Dupler, a part-time security detective for the Cloverleaf Security Co., was publicly criticized by Dover police in April for allegedly recovering some stolen goods without a search warrant.

The police said Dupler ruined their case against the alleged burglar.

Dupler is opposed in the primary by Fred Swegheimer, 37, a realtor and former city Democratic Party chairman. The winner will meet Republican incumbent Guy M. Smith in November. Smith is unopposed in the primary.

In other contests through the region, income taxes and more political battles take the spotlight.

Voters in both Springfield and Steubenville will be casting ballots on a one-half of one per cent income tax hike. The Springfield tax would be used to build a city public safety building. Jefferson County's tax would go into the county general revenue fund.

Elsewhere, candidates in droves are asking voters to put them in office.

In Mansfield, five Democrats and three Republicans are seeking their party's nomination for mayor. The Republicans include incumbent Richard Porter, Councilman George Lusher and Lazo George.

The Democrats are councilmen Charles Scott and Thomas Dorsey, former service-safety director Paul White, Dan Martin and Donald Isley.

In Marietta, incumbent mayor James F. Schwiebert is opposed in the Republican primary by Ralph E. Gearhart, currently president of the city council, and by Robert L. Nichols, former development director.

Similar heavy fields face voters in a plethora of city council and commission races.

Missionaries To Speak At Jefferson CCCU

The Rev. and Mrs. Donald L. Brown, missionary appointees to Dominica, West Indies, will speak at the Circleville-Jefferson Church of Christ in Christian Union, 6 p.m. Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown serve with the Churches of Christ in Christian Union, with headquarters in Circleville.

A native of London, Ohio, Mr. Brown felt the call to preach when 13 years of age. After serving his country as a technician on air-borne radar in the Eighth Air Force in England during World War II, he studied at Capitol University, Columbus, before transferring to Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., where he completed his college work. He received his AB degree in 1949.

In 1949 and 1950, he pastored in Columbus. He also served as General Council Secretary and as Chairman of the General Sunday School Board of his denomination.

Mrs. Brown, the former Miss Glenna Nance, was born in Ironton, Ohio. She graduated as valedictorian of her class at Cedarville High School and then enrolled at Olivet Nazarene College, Kankakee, Ill. where she majored in music. She was elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

In 1962, Mr. Brown served a pastorate at Newark CCU while working for the government in accounting and Mrs. Brown taught school.

The Browns began full-time Christian service at Circleville Bible College in 1964. For varying lengths of time, he served as Dean of Men, Registrar, Christian Service Director, and the one in charge of the correspondence department. She directed the choir and taught music class. While teaching at CBC, she

Slinter Religious Group Active

NEW YORK (AP) — After a year in prison, the slim, gentlemanly founder of a peasantstyle religion is back on "The Farm," overseeing his flock of 800 young men, women and children.

"We're not rejecting the world and people, but we do reject a lot of modern cultural assumptions," says Stephen Gaskin, 40, head of the unusual rural community in mid-Tennessee, consisting mostly of city youths turned rustics.

"In the city, people get stacked up too much and certain destructive effects come into play, just as when too many rats are together, they begin to eat each other," he says.

Clad in denim and hand-made cottons, 15 of the long-haired group were in New York City recently as part of a promotional tour in their live-in scenic bus, along with their bearded spiritual mentor.

He served a Tennessee prison term because of marijuana being grown on their farm, and was released last Jan. 29. The group regards use of marijuana as a "sacrament" to heighten conscience.

"I can't say anything about that now," Gaskin said in an interview, completed work for an MA degree in Church Music at Ohio State University in 1968.

In 1970, the Browns accepted a pastorate at the Catalina Heights Church in Tucson, Arizona, where they served until July 1974. They then ministered at Smith Chapel in southern Ohio until beginning deputation work for the Missionary Department.

Placed under appointment to Dominica for a two-year term, the Browns will teach at the Bible school.

They anticipate leaving for the mission field in July providing their support is in hand.

noting he still is on parole. He and his followers said they no longer produce "grass," although they still hold the same view of it.

But they set strict disciplines about other items — no tobacco smoking, no alcohol, no coffee or tea. They're vegetarians who eschew meat, fish, eggs and dairy products. They shun hunting or fishing, emphasize non-violence.

"We notice that children who don't come from 'The Farm' are more violent," said Mildred Tassone, 28, a New York-reared married mother in the group. "We hope our own children, when they grow up, don't cut their hair and go over to the straight world."

Called simply "The Farm," the group was started in 1971 by Gaskin and some followers from San Francisco, then numbering 250. The number since has grown to 800 on 1,750 acres of land three miles from Summertown, Tenn.

About 400 additional members live at 14 branch farms in other states. The group is one of many sequestered, individually led religious groups that have developed among youths in the country.

It puts out a magazine called "Hey Beatnik!" runs its own school for children, has midwives to deliver babies. "The Farm" includes teams of carpenters, mechanics, plumbers, electricians as well as farmers. They've put up a dozen buildings, including houses, a school, laundry, flour mill, printshop, canning facility and meeting hall.

"Any time there's trouble, they call on me," says Gaskin, who claims a special insight into reality, both natural and technological. "Most of the time, I can figure it out."

Gaskin, a one-time San Francisco State University teacher of creative writing, said he grew up with no religious background. He defined his group's beliefs as "experientially based religion, dealing with the vibrational and miraculous phenomena common to all mystical religions."

Bishop Ensley Appoints New Superintendent

United Methodist Bishop F. Gerald Ensley announced the appointment of The Rev. Clyde C. Pinnell, Athens, to be the superintendent of the Columbus South District with headquarters in Columbus. Circleville is located in the Columbus South District of the West Ohio conference.

Rev. Pinnell succeeds the Rev. Glenn E. Copeland who completes the regular six-year term of superintendent at the annual conference.

A native of West Virginia, Rev. Pinnell has been senior minister of the First United Methodist Church in Athens since 1967. He began his ministry in Ohio Hilliard in 1950.

He then served as senior minister of the Anderson Hills United Methodist Church, Cincinnati and Trinity United Methodist Church, Portsmouth.

A 1946 graduate of Ohio State University, he prepared for the ministry at the United Theological Seminary and Garrett Theological Seminary from which he was graduated in 1951.

Pinnell, along with two other superintendents appointed in the conference automatically became members of the Cabinet. West Ohio's Cabinet is composed of superintendents of the 14 districts in the conference. They assist the bishop in supervising the work of the 1396 local churches in the western 59 counties of Ohio.

"The New Way" is the sermon topic for the Sunday worship services at the Trinity Lutheran Church.

Community United Methodist Church will observe Senior Recognition Sunday in honor of its graduates for 1975 in both worship services.

"Some Don'ts For Winning in Life" is the sermon theme with special music provided by the Bell Choir.

The Rev. Forest Cooper of West Virginia will speak in the morning worship service at the First Free Will Baptist Church.

The sermon theme for the Sunday worship service at Calvary United Methodist Church is "Amazing Results from Plain Faith".

The Good Shepherd United Methodist Church Choir, under the direction of Montford Kirkwood, will present a sermon in song entitled, "Salvation is for All" in the 9:30 a.m. Sunday worship service.

"What Are Heads For?" is the sermon topic for the service at the First Presbyterian Church.

The Ebenezer Mass Choir of Columbus, under the direction of Mrs. Doris L. Brown, will present an evening of sacred music, 7 p.m. Sunday at the Campus Church of Christ in Christian Union.

"Who is Responsible for Children?" is the subject for the morning worship service at the First Baptist Church of Circleville.

The Rev. and Mrs. Don Brown, missionary appointees, will be the special speakers at the Circleville-Jefferson Church of Christ in Christian Union, 6 p.m. Sunday. Service will dismiss early for the Logan Elm High School graduation.

Youth Leaders To Attend NYPS Convention

Pastors and youth leaders from the community will attend the annual Nazarene Young People's Society convention of the Central Ohio District of the Church of the Nazarene, June 6, at 6 p.m., and morning and afternoon sessions on June 7, on the campus of Mt. Vernon Nazarene College.

This convention will also include delegates from each of the 116 local societies. Presiding at the convention will be Rev. R. E. Gatlin, Pataskala, district president.

Dr. Terrell C. (Jack) Sanders Jr., District Superintendent, will attend and preside at the time of the report and election of the district president.

Through the leadership of the Department of Youth of the General Board evangelistic programs are promoted which bring together young people from around the world. Last summer more than 2000 participated in a Nazarene World Youth Congress in Fiesch, Switzerland.

This summer numerous teams of youth of the church will be serving in short-term missionary and evangelistic activities in many nations.

If she has kept up with the course all term, she'll not flunk because of this nap. BUT — if she is counting on the midnight oil to pull her through the exam . . . Too bad!

You've heard of people being converted to Christianity on their deathbed. True! As Christ promised salvation to a penitent thief on the cross, so God's love reaches out even in the final hour to those who call on Him in faith.

But don't live your life on the dangerous principle that last-minute cramming will satisfy all your religious needs.

There will be millions of adults and children in church next Sunday. They are seeking spiritual truth, gaining Christian convictions . . . not because they need some religion to die with — because they need Faith to live by.

On Books And Activities At The Library

Remember what fun it was as a child to sneak away to a shady spot on a hot summer day with an exciting mystery to read? If you can find the shady spot, your Pickaway County District Public Library can supply the exciting mysteries this week.

"Woman In The Mirror" is a romantic suspense story by Winston Graham. "The Landlady" by Constance Rauche is a chilling tale about a menacing old lady while "Backyard" by Jean Fleming is a suspense-filled novel about a divorcee and her two teenaged sons.

For the devotees of detective and intrigue type mysteries, five new titles include: "Key Witness" by Willo Roberts; "A Multitude Of Sins" by M. K. Wren; "Other Paths To Glory" by Anthony Price; "The Long Revenge" by Jane Thomson; "All God's Children" by Arthur Lyons.

"The Patchwork Man" by David Harper is an action-packed drama which uses a modern computer to home in on a human target.

Frank Yerby fans have a new novel by that prolific author. "Tobias And The Angel" is a racy mixture of humor and horror.

For the Western readers, "Hangman's Knot" by Dwight Bennett and "Track The Man Down" by Theodore Olsen are new from Doubleday.

If you're looking for some Non-mystery fiction, try "Crucial Conversations" by Mary Sarton. It's the story of a woman's plight trapped in a marriage. "Strange Companion" by Dayton Hyde is a charming story of people and nature. "The Prisoners Of September" by Leon Garfield brings you the suspense of the French Revolution.

Many of the new non-fiction books seem to deal with the search for meaning. The importance of coming to terms with death is the subject of two new titles. "The Romeo Error" by Lynel Watson explores death in terms of life. "Death And The Family" by Lily Pincus is an effort to help the reader understand and accept the death of a loved one.

"How To Be Awake And Alive" is written by Newman and Berkowitz. They also authored "How To Be Your Own Best Friend."

"Believing" by Eugene C. Kennedy discusses the role of belief in our lives. It includes interviews with several well-known personalities. "Light My Candle" by Anita Bryant and Bob Green is a testimony to God's love in the lives of this couple.

Transactional Analysis in religious experience is the theme of Rosemary Haughton's "The Liberated Heart."

"Words From The Source" edited by Brad Steiger is an anthology of metaphysical readings from the Louis Foundation.

Hiley Ward has written a book titled "Religion 2101 A.D." which examines some of the changes to which religion must respond in the future.

"The Wallaces Of Alabama" by George Wallace, Jr. is the biography of a family told by the son of the famed politician.

Vienna and the Habsburg Monarchy live in the pages of the new biography of Franz Joseph. "The Eagles Die" by George Marek presents the drama of the times in terms of Franz Joseph and his wife Elisabeth and their influence on the course of history.

New in-depth titles cover business and law. "The Law In America" is a discussion of the history of our legal system by Bernard Schwartz; "The Dollar Barons" by Christopher Elias is the inside story of banking and the men who control America's purse strings; "How To Manage For Tomorrow" by Eugene Bengt discusses the many coming changes in management procedures.

Vacations are the subjects of much thought right about now. If you're looking for some new and exciting travel ideas, try the library. Three new books might inspire you: "The Pacific Shore" by Brokaw and Marx; "Alaska" by Johnson and "England's Green And Pleasant Land" by Kate Simon.

If you're just planning to stay home and do something different, there are several new volumes for the artist which include working in pastel, drawing portraits, watercolors, and painting landscapes with a knife.

Craft people will be interested in "How To Start Your Own Craft Business" by Genfon and Taetzsch and "Designing For Crafts" by Parker.

For the seamstress, Jane Rhinehart has a guide "How To Make Men's Clothes."

The vegetable gardener should look at "The Postage Stamp Garden Book" by Newcomb.

Camera buffs can get some good information in "Exploring Photography" by Fern Kennedy.

Whatever you plan for the summer, there's a book to go with it at your library. Take time out to browse the shelves today.

Urge Open Meetings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The central Ohio chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists has urged the Ohio State University board of trustees to "make its entire decision-making process open to the public."

The society on Tuesday criticized the board's policy of holding closed door committee sessions prior to regular board meetings.

The Spanish founded Manila in 1571 and began to colonize the Philippines.

Corn Planting Ahead Of Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers are rapidly winding up planting their 1975 corn crop well ahead of schedule in a major step toward a record harvest of the important food-producing grain next fall.

By May 25, about 90 per cent of this year's intended corn acreage had been planted, according to Agriculture Department officials. Last year on the same date about 75 per cent was planted, and normal progress for May 25 is 79 per cent.

Although corn must grow and mature for the next five months, the progress made by farmers in planting the 1975 crop is in sharp contrast to problems the past two seasons when rain-swept fields delayed seedings, washed out fields and in general reduced yields.

The department, in a weekly weather report summary released Wednesday, said corn planting in the important north central area was 91 per cent completed by May 25, far ahead of last year.

"Planting was virtually complete in Iowa; 96 per cent finished in Illinois; 95 per cent in Ohio; and 90 per cent in Indiana, Kansas and Nebraska," the report said.

"All states in this region were ahead of both the 1974 level and the average except in Nebraska where planting was 95 per cent complete in 1974."

Answers For Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald will publish a series of Questions and Answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer in the basement of the Pickaway County Court House.

(Q.) What is the total monthly VA payment to a World War II veteran who is 100 per cent disabled, and has a wife and two dependent children? Also, how much is payable if the veteran is rated 40 per cent disabled? What are the corresponding amounts for a peacetime veteran?

(A.) A totally disabled veteran with a wife and two children receives $584 total monthly benefit, of which $77 is additional allowance for dependents. There are no additional allowances for a veteran rated less than 50 per cent disabled. There no longer is any distinction between wartime and peacetime disability. The same rate applies.

(Q.) Will the Veterans Administration extend a GI Bill home loan to a Korean Conflict veteran, who intends to use the money to satisfy back taxes on his property?

(A.) Yes, as long as you own and occupy the property as a home, the VA may grant you a GI Bill loan for this purpose.

(Q.) Is the amount of vocational rehabilitation a disabled veteran may get through the VA based upon his length of active service?

(A.) No. Length of training is determined by the time required to overcome the handicap and establish employability. It is limited to 48 months, unless VA determines a longer period is necessary.

(Q.) I desire to file a claim with the VA for Total Non Service Connected Pension. Does my wife's income from employment count against me?

(A.) Your wife's income from employment will not count against you.

However, if she has income from any other source in addition to her income from employment, then that income from other sources will count against you.

(Q.) Did a veteran have to serve in the Viet Nam Conflict to receive the Viet Nam Bonus?

(A.) No. A veteran only had to serve in the military during the dates set forth by the Ohio Bonus Commission.

Union Extends Pact For Year

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The 55-member Local 72 of the Marble, Tile and Terrazzo Helpers Union has extended its contract for a year without asking a wage increase.

Business Agent Julius Servizzi said the union agreed not to ask for a pay hike "because prices are just too high right now. It's one way we can help fight inflation."

Base pay for journeymen in the union, not counting fringe benefits, is $9.14 to $9.23 per hour.

Eight other Cincinnati trade unions with a membership of 7,350 are asking raises. Their contracts all run out at midnight Saturday.

Music Of Colonial Period Filled With Satire

EDITOR'S NOTE — "It has a very sweet sound," says Gillian Anderson of American music 200 years ago. "But when we've been practicing or performing it for a long period, it gets to be cloying."

By DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — "If I've gotten an over-all impression of the music of the colonial period," Gillian Anderson said, "it is that satire was extremely important."

Ms. Anderson is a 31-year-old Washington musicologist who has done perhaps more research than any other person on the music of 18th century America.

With the aid of a $20,000, twoyear grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities, she compiled a 1,000-page manuscript listing 1,455 lyrics of all the political and patriotic songs published in colonial newspapers in the period 1773-1783.

"These lyrics have usually been treated as literature," she said in an interview. "Often the satire is in the music, so if you study just the lyrics you miss the musical joke."

"It has been a fantastic experience, which most scholars don't experience — the ability to hear it performed, not just studied."

So that she and others could hear the music as well as the lyrics, Ms. Anderson organized the Colonial Singers and Players several years ago. It is comprised of 20 amateurs and 10 professionals who have appeared at the White House, the Kennedy Center, the National Archives, the National Portrait Gallery and elsewhere.

Some of the songs of the American Revolution which she has unearthed tend to be xrated, but others are merely strongly worded. One that was sung in Chester, Pa., in July 1774 to the tune of "Hearts of Oak" goes like this: "Come join hand in hand all ye true, loyal souls,"

"Tis Liberty calls let's fill up our bowls,

"We'll toast all the lovers of Freedom's good cause; 'America's sons will support all our laws:

"Our firelocks are good; let fair Freedom ne'er yield;

"We're always ready,

"Steady, boys, steady,

"By Jove we'll be free, or we'll die in the field."

A Troy, N.Y., song of the same era, sung to the tune of "The Lilies of France and the Fair English Rose," went this way:

"They've plundered our houses, attempted our lives,

"Drove off from their homes our children and wives;

"Such plundering miscreants no mercy can crave,

"Such plundering miscreants no mercy can crave,

"Such murdering villains no mercy shall have.

"Then draw all your swords, and constantly sing,

"Success to our Troop, our Country and King."

After the Revolution succeeded, many native composers wrote works in tribute to George Washington. An early version of "The Yankee's Return from Camp," which has survived as "Yankee Doodle," had this as one of its stanzas:

"And there was a Captain Washington,

"And gentlefolks about him,

"They say he's grown so ternal proud,

"He will not ride without 'em."

This was the original version of the song. Ms. Anderson says there were at least five variations of the music, and innumerable lyrics, some of which were written after the surrender of the British at Yorktown.

Ms. Anderson's study covers both secular and sacred music of colonial America in the 18th century — dance, secular, popular, stage, religious, military and others.

She said that music of the period tended to be highly localized, both as to geography and church denomination. While the Moravians were highly skilled in religious music, for example, they did not have much influence in other fields, she said.

The dissident religions, which later became the Presbyterians and the Congregationalists, did much to advance musical culture, she said, but perhaps the French Roman Catholic missionaries were premier, teaching sophisticated music to the Indians.

Ms. Anderson is a bit less entranced by the music itself.

"It has a very sweet sound; an awful lot of it has a very sweet sound," she said. "English music of the period, even Handel, used a lot of thirds and sixths. That is a generalization that could be knocked down."

"But when I've been practicing or performing it for a long period, it gets to be cloying, and I just want to hear some noise like the sound of a dentist's drill, or some dissonance."

Fund Deposits Bring Lawsuit

EAST CHICAGO, Ind. (AP) — A suit filed by an East Chicago savings and loan firm could affect millions of dollars of public funds in Indiana.

First Federal Savings and Loan Association charged in the suit it is being discriminated against unconstitutionally because banks are used as public depositories for local government funds but savings-loan firms are not. First Federal asked Lake County Superior Court to give savings and loan firms equal footing with banks or rule state laws on the subject unconstitutional.

Named defendants were State Board of Accounts members because they supervise public depository laws.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q.) When must a taxpayer file a gift tax return?

(A.) A gift tax return must be filed by a donor if the gifts to any donee total more than $3,000, or if there is a gift of a future interest during the calendar year. The gift tax return must be filed on or before the 15th day of the second month following the close of the calendar quarter in which the gift is made. Any gift to a charitable organization must be reported on a return for the fourth calendar quarter, or on an earlier quarterly return, if one is required for a non-charitable gift.

For further information, consult IRS Publication 592, "The Federal Gift Tax." It will be available soon in most IRS offices and it is free.

(Q.) If my tax return is audited, what rights of appeal do I have?

(A.) If your return is examined in an IRS office and you don't agree with the proposed changes, you may request an immediate meeting with a supervisor. If agreement is not reached at this meeting, or the audit was not in an IRS office, you can take your case to, an IRS District Conference. If no agreement is reached there, your next level of appeal is with the IRS regional Appellate Division. If this appeal is not satisfactory, you can take your case to the United States Tax Court. However, you can pay the tax and file a claim for a refund, which if disallowed permits you to take your case to the U.S. Court of Claims or the U.S. District Court. These courts are independent judicial bodies and have no connection with the IRS. Your final appeal may reach the U.S. Supreme Court. At any stage of the IRS appeal procedure, you can agree with the changes in your return and pay your tax, or you can file a petition with the Tax Court, or pay your tax and file a claim for refund. For detailed information on this subject, consult IRS Publication 556, "Audit of Returns, Appeal Rights and Claims for Refund." It's available free from most IRS offices.

(Q.) According to the provisions of a lease I provide, the tenant to whom I rent an apartment must pay me a certain amount for cancelling his lease. How should I report this on my return?

(A.) If your tenant pays you for permitting him to cancel his lease, the amount you receive is rent and must be reported in the year you receive it whether you use the cash or accrual method of accounting. All rental income and related expenses should be reported on Part II of Schedule E, Form 1040.

NEW HORSE ARENA—4-H advisors, participants, and parents have pooled their efforts to create a horse arena at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds. Money to finance the arena was raised last year in a 4-H - sponsored open horse show, and more funds will be raised with a show planned June 14. The 4-Hers will have the fencing completed, and hope to have more electrical outlets and a speaker's stand built in time for the county fair.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Hubby Keeps Secret From Folks

DEAR ABBY: Danny and I have been married for five years. He had just been divorced, and I had never been married before. (I was 30, and Danny was 42 at the time.)

Abby, he still hasn't told his family that we are married. His ex-wife and sister are very close-like sisters-and his sister never gave up hope that Danny and his ex would get back together.

They know about me, but I guess they must think Danny and I are just living together. I never liked the idea of his keeping our marriage a secret from his family, but he has forbidden me to tell them and keeps saying that he will tell them at the proper time.

Abby, this really upsets me. What is he waiting for? When I bring it up, he says that I am being childish and that I should trust him.

This bothers me so much I think I am going to have a nervous breakdown. Can you figure him out? I can't.

FRAZZLED NERVES

DEAR FRAZZLED: I can't figure him out, either. But you can bet the rent that Danny is keeping something from you.

You have two choices: Make up your mind that you don't give a hoot whether or not Danny's family knows you are married, or tell him that if he doesn't announce your marriage by the fourth of July, there will be fireworks!

DEAR ABBY: We recently moved to another city where my husband was appointed to an executive position.

He told me that we should wait until the wives of executives invite us before we make any overtures to socialize with them.

Later I found out that every wife of a peanut clerk had invited top-management people to their homes, their invitations had been accepted and a good time was had by all.

Knowing this, should we invite management who are above my husband in rank first? Or should we wait until they invite us?

WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Become better acquainted first, then invite those whose company you enjoy without concerning yourselves with the picking order.

DEAR ABBY: Roger and I have been dating for three years. We are very happy just dating and not having to worry about money, children and all the problems most married couples have.

Here's my problem: A day doesn't go by without someone asking, "When are you and Roger going to get married?" Or, worse yet, "When are you going to get that guy to marry you?"

I am only 21, so why do people act as though I'm an old maid? Abby, not every girl is dying to get married. I enjoy being single and not having the problems of a married woman. Besides, I've got plenty of time.

If you print this in your column, I'm going to cut it out, carry it with me and hand it to the next person who puts me on the spot with a dumb question about marriage.

Bicentennial Quilt Made By Students

Mrs. Evelyn Kaiser's fifth grade class at Ashville Elementary School has completed a bicentennial quilt. Each child in the class was asked to select a design for a square using "Our Heritage" as a theme. Thirty-five squares were created depicting symbols of freedom, important events, inventions and great Americans.

The quilt is made of polyester material stuffed with polyester quilt batting. The students worked in the classroom off and on for a week and Mrs. Kaiser spent 57 hours at home cutting, stuffing and sewing the quilt together.

After it was complete, the quilt was used as an educational tool in the classroom. The students did research on the squares they had completed and wrote paragraphs on the topics. They also gave oral reports in their English Classes.

The students became more aware of their heritage and the history of their country.

Governor Foils Betting Newsmen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — No one knows if he was tipped off, but Gov. James A. Rhodes upset capitol newsmen when he addressed a joint session of the 11th General Assembly on Ohio's energy problems.

Newsman had organized a pool in the pressroom on how many times the governor, noted for his "jobs and progress" themes, would use the word "jobs" in his speech.

A few state officials furtively slipped into the pressroom to buy 25-cent chances, drawing numbers out of a box.

Guesses ran up to 98 with numbers between 25 and 30 considered the luckiest.

In delivering his 25-minute speech, Rhodes said the word "jobs" only six times, including ad libs. Newsman kept count with slash marks on note paper.

A Cincinnati and a Columbus newsman split the $7 pot — one holding "three" and the other "nine."

Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, managed to cover up a faux pas in the Senate the other day, but he had to go to extraordinary lengths to do it.

In extolling the virtues of the Education Review Committee during debate on a new school aid bill, Pease praised the former chairwoman of the SenateHouse committee, Clara Weisenborn of Dayton.

"I only wish she were here today," he said. Guffaws erupted. Mrs. Weisenborn, a Republican, was defeated last November by Neal F. Zimmers, D-5 Dayton, who was out of the chamber.

By the time he realized how his words sounded, it was too late. Zimmers returned and smiling broadly rose on a point of personal privilege.

"Have you been attacked?" asked the presiding officer.

Before Zimmers could answer, Pease bounded up from his seat, walked to Zimmers' desk and dropped to his knees, bowing like an Ohio State cheerleader after a Buckeye touchdown.

That fixed it. Zimmers voted with Pease on the school aid bill.

Elections for senior class officers of the 1975-76 school year were held May 1. Eight offices were filled.

Lisa Leahy was elected president of the senior class. Lisa was vice-president of the junior class and said, "I feel that our class has the potential to be great leaders next year. I'll try to unite our class and get some extra privileges for the future CHS seniors."

Steve Penn, vice-president, stated, "We're going to make the class of '76 the best yet." Steve was president of his sophomore class.

Returning to the office of secretary is Julie Sberna, and Barb Brackett will hold the office of treasurer for her third year. "I like being treasurer, and I'm glad I got it again this year," she said.

Debbie Downey, new parliamentarian, said, "This is my first year as a class officer, and I hope we can accomplish a lot."

Nancy Radcliff, projects chairman, also has high hopes for next year. This will be her second year as projects chairman, and she feels, "Linda Davies and I did a lot our junior year, and I hope to accomplish more next year."

Linda Davies has exchanged her office as projects chairman for that of councilman-at-large. She is "glad to be an officer of the senior class."

Leslie Ried, this year's prom chairman, is looking forward to her job as graduation chairman. She said she hopes the senior year is the best ever, and she "can't wait until graduation."

Top Home Ec Girl Named

Theresa Immler, senior, was named top-ranking home economics student at Circleville High School and was presented the Sterling Silver Homemaking Award for 1975.

The award, a four-piece place setting of sterling flatware, was presented to Theresa last Thursday at the Senior Awards Assembly by Mrs. Betty Rickey, home economics teacher.

The pattern for the award sterling was selected by the home economics students as part of a special project in consumer education, and the silver has been on display in the home economics department throughout the year.

The Award is made available by the Sterling Silversmiths Guide of America in recognition of the fine work being done today in high school home economics education, and to stimulate student interest in the homemaking arts.

The award was given to Theresa on the basis of her outstanding work during her four years of Vocational Home Economics at Circleville High School.

Heading the list of higher education institutions was Ohio State University, which 26 students indicated they would attend. Of the 43 different institutions which were mentioned, at least two CHS graduates will attend the following: Capitol University, Hocking Technical Institute, Lincoln Technical Institute, Ohio University, Franklin University, Bowling Green State University, College of Wooster, Columbus Technical Institute, Mt. Carmel School of Nursing, Muskingum College, University of Cincinnati, Grant Hospital School of Nursing, Ohio State School of Cosmetology, Ohio Institute of Technology, and Ohio Northern University.

Warm, moist and unstable air moving through Ohio ahead of a low pressure system will continue to bring showers and thundershowers to the state through Saturday.

The weather map is dominated by that large system which extends from Lake Superior to Texas.

Showers and thundershowers were scattered throughout the state overnight with Youngstown and Marietta getting about one-half inch and at least six other locations getting lesser, but measureable, amounts.

that by saying one of the largest in the past 20 years since I wasn't around town before that.

All the local scout troops, Brownies, Junior Cadets, Cubs and Boys, marched. This included units from Five Points and Jackson school, too.

The Williamsport Cadets, a drill team under the leadership of Mrs. Leroy (Gwinn) Lane, really looked sharp and added much color to the parade in their lovely new blue outfits. A number of other units also participated.

Get Well Soon

That sweet little lady across the street from us, Mrs. Harry (Emma) Puffinbarger is a surgical patient at the Ross County Medical Center, Chillicothe, Ohio 45601, so please shower her with cards of cheer.

Another highly respected neighbor, John Shaeffer is a patient in the intensive care unit at Berger Hospital. We surely are hopeful that both of these fine persons will soon be coming home and much improved.

Joe and Nellie Wright are happy to have infatigating daughter Judy (Mrs. Carl) Fuller home for a ten day visit. Judy and Carl make their home in Fountain, Col. where Carl is a member of the U.S. Armed Forces at Fort Carson.

The infatigating is over for Marc and Debbie Easterday since their wee one arrived last Thursday evening at Berger Hospital. Tipping the scales at 6 pounds 12½-ounces, the newcomer has been named Monica Ellen. Now it is a four generation affair which isn't all that earth shattering except when it happens to you.

Papa Bill had his May appointment with his doctor on Tuesday and was pleased to learn that his injuries are still steadily improving.

What To Do?

Complete aggravation is trying to whip the inflation problem grocery wise by planting a garden and having some blasted creature or creatures nibble the plants to the ground. What can we do to stop this invasion of our garden? Any suggestions most welcome, let me tell you.

The favorite method of cooking on Memorial Day obviously was cook-outs since the delightful aroma came from many different directions here in our town.

Our sincere congratulations and best wishes to all graduates and especially to our own Westfall High School seniors. May they each keep in mind: — "No challenge is too difficult—No task too hard to do—When hearts are filled with faith and hope—And dreams are brave and new!" (D.J. Faulhaber)

Portsmouth Man $300,000 Winner

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—J. Robert Quinn of Portsmouth says one thing bothers him after winning the top prize in the Ohio lottery's Buckeye 300 drawing: he fears his rent may be raised at the retirement home where he lives with his wife, Estella.

The 75-year-old former truck dispatcher said rent at the home is based on income, and his jumped suddenly by $15,000 a year Thursday night. The Ohio Lottery Commission pays out the $300,000 Buckeye 300 prize over a 20-year span.

With only four contestants in the drawing, the other three took home minimum $15,000 prizes each. They included Alex P. Koster of Lakewood; Virgil L. Belcher of Parkersburg, W.Va.; and Betty Scheffel of Cincinnati.

The commission offers its biggest prize of $1 million—$50,000 a year for 20 years—in the fourth millionaire lottery Saturday at 3 p.m. in Lorain. The 100 contestants also have a chance at lesser prizes of $100,000 and $50,000, plus seven $10,000 prizes.

Ten others will receive $2,000 each, and the remaining 80 get $1,000 each. The millionaire list released by the commission includes two contestants from Indianapolis, Ind.—Eugene Esselborn and Joseph Blasingame. From Parkersburg, W. Va., will come Glenn Skaugerud, a 55-year-old bricklayer who says he enjoys travel.

Also on the list is Alan Curry, 24, of Flatwoods, Ky., a newly wed smelter.

In all, 52 cities are represented. Eleven contestants are from Dayton and 11 from Cincinnati. Columbus is third with seven competitors, followed by Cleveland with five, Akron with four, and Toledo and the Cleveland suburb of Brooklyn with three each.

The participants come from the Ohio lottery's weekly $20 winners, with one potential millionaire chosen for each 2,500 of the weekly winners. The millionaire drawing itself is conducted once for each 30 million tickets sold, or about every two months.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Tuesday night the mighty mites with the "Mosquito" bite will swing and swat and look for baseballs to be caught as they officially open the 1975 Circleville Youth Baseball action 5:30 p.m. at Ted Lewis Park.

These guys are the little swingers who are really fun to watch and always seem to draw a good crowd. Some of them are so small they can walk around inside the uniform and they can keep their caps up as long as their ears don't get tired.

Now is the time to watch and enjoy them because in a few short years they will be wearing the uniforms of the Babe Ruth League and it's a lot of fun to grow up with them as they become top flight ball players.

Don't look at them with the idea of seeing big league baseball—It just isn't there—But you will see big league kids and this is what is important.

They will move from the Mosquito into the Little League Minors, then Majors, become Pony Leaguers and then on the prestige uniforms of the Babe Ruth League which means they have come the full route and given all of us who go to the games some mighty pleasant evenings.

We give a lot of credit to the guys who run the Program and give their time and energy in various capacities. They make it all possible.

And above all, we have all the respect and admiration in the world for Mom who not only cooks early suppers, mends uniforms, is just as happy as he is when his team wins but has the wonderful knack of comforting her "big guy" when he loses and always seems to be able to wipe away the tear that is trickling down his cheek before anyone else notices it.

Well, it all gets underway Tuesday and gives the boys a good summer and a lot of attention.

But, it takes money to operate a program of this size and give it the class that it always seems to maintain.

So Saturday beginning at 10:30 a.m. the players, in uniform and supervised by their managers and members of the baseball program, will make a house to house and business to business canvass with their "I Support Circleville Youth Baseball" stickers for your car or house window. All they ask is a donation to help them provide us with a lot of fun and action this summer—Being Irish we would sure like to see these donations make it a "green" Saturday.

Our "fearless" forecast—Ewing is stewing so things could be brewing in the Atlanta Classic.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

Logan Elm Places Three On District All-Star Team

Logan Elm placed three baseball players on the All-Central District Class AA team selected by a vote of the coaches and announced today.

They were Scott Pontius, Greg Justus, both seniors, and Jeff Reichelderfer, a junior. All three were also Mid-State All-Star selections. They were the only players from area schools to make the central district coaches' dream team, and Pontius and Justus narrowly missed being named to play in the East-West game June 6, 7 and 8 at Ohio State.

However, all three will play in the central district AA-A game June 5 at a site yet to be selected.

Pontius, the LE shortstop, holds a fist full of records at Logan Elm. His 33 runs is a record shared by Reichelderfer. In addition he had 37 hits and 29 runs batted in, both records.

Pontius had a .451 batting average for the season, hit six doubles, led the team in triples with five and blasted three home runs.

Ohio Cagers Among NBA Draftees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cornelius Cash and Skip Howard, who costarred at both Dayton Dunbar High School and Bowling Green State University, were selected in the National Basketball Association draft Thursday, but by different teams.

The 6-foot-7 Cash was the second-round choice of Milwaukee, while the 6-9 Howard was picked by Cleveland in the ninth round. Both are forwards.

Among other Ohio college players selected in the draft was Walter Luckett, Ohio University forward, who was one of 18 undergraduate collegians approved as hardship cases.

Luckett, a 6-4 junior from Bridgeport, Conn., was taken by Detroit in the second round.

Other early round selections included Ted Hathaway, Cleveland State's 6-3 guard from Middletown, Conn., who was picked by the Cavaliers in the third round, and Bill Andreas, the 6-7 guard at Ohio State from Sugarcreek, by the Chicago Bulls in the sixth round.

Selected in the seventh round were Steve Fields, 6-6 forward at Miami of Ohio, by Portland; Nate Barnett, 6-3 guard at Akron, by Houston, and Mike Franklin, Cincinnati center, by Buffalo.

Kevin Grevey of Hamilton, the high-scoring 6-5 forward for Kentucky, was the first round choice of the Washington Bullets.

Debbie Austin Leads Field In LPGA Tilt

BALTIMORE (AP) — Debbie Austin just missed an eagle putt on the first hole of the $55,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association Championship, but she got even better vibrations after sending her second tee shot into the trees.

"My roommate, Sue Roberts, tells me that you know when you're going to win," said Miss Austin, who has yet to win in eight years on the tour. "When the ball rattled around the trees and rolled out, I thought it was a good omen."

"I hit a six-iron in front of the green, chipped to within eight feet, and holed the putt. It was sloppy, but I got away with it."

The bit of early luck led to a par on the second hole, and the 27-year old went on to share the first round lead in the 21st LPGA Championship with veteran Sandra Spuzich — whose card included an eagle three.

Each shot a five-under par 68 on the municipally-owned Pine Ridge course for a two-stroke lead over Kathy Whitworth, who earlier this week became the seventh member of the LPGA Hall of Fame.

Officials tried to make Pine Ridge more of a championship test, providing more rough and narrowing the fairways. But the changes had little effect on a good portion of the record field of 96.

Twenty of the touring pros at least equaled par 73. Another 10 were bunched at 74, 13 more at 75, and nine at 76.

Jockey Sandy Hawley won five races when the 1975 Hollywood Park Racing season opened.

Justus, a catcher, had a .348 batting average, led the team in homeruns with four, a Logan Elm record and in walks, 26, also a Logan Elm record.

Reichelderfer, outfielder-catcher, had a .390 batting average and in addition to his 33 runs scored led the team in stolen bases with nine, hit five doubles, two triples and two homeruns.

All three players reached base 60 per cent of the time they were at bat, a statistic that LE coach Vic Pontius feels is very important.

Pontius and Justus both have received a number of invitations by colleges because of their baseball abilities. Pontius also lettered in golf and basketball at Logan Elm, Justus in football and Reichelderfer in football, basketball.

PCC Ladies Day Lists Golf Winners

"Hidden Partners" was the name of the game at the Pickaway Country Club Ladies Day Thursday.

Mary Carpenter and Phyl Dutch were the 18-hole winners with Joyce Alkire and Ellen Routzahn finishing second.

In nine-hole action, the A and B Flight winners were Jo Ann Ness and June Curtin with Dottie Smith and Dorothy Wardell second. Loretta Berrigan and Jeanne Shea took the honors in C Flight with Meg Sberna and Gert Richerd taking second spot.

Next week 18-hole golfers will tee off on No. 10, C Flight from No. 16 and A and B Flights from No. 1 and No. 4. Everyone will start at 9 a.m. After nine holes, the 18-hole golfers will have a meeting and lunch with the nine-hole players before finishing their round.

Geronimo Left Off All-Star Ballots

CINCINNATI (AP)—The only way Cincinnati's Cesar Geronimo can get votes for the All-Star game is by writing in and Reds Manager Sparky Anderson is unhappy about it.

"I don't understand it. I can't believe it," said Anderson.

"It is impossible to name the top 24 outfielders in the National League and not include Cesar Geronimo," complained Anderson about the selection.

He noted that the entire New York outfield was selected by the committee in New York, and said none of those players has matched Geronimo's .291 batting average this year.

In addition, the Mets place seven of eight starters on the ballot.

Geronimo won Gold Glove last year for his defensive play and his arm is considered one of the best in baseball, Anderson said.

Anderson said a panel of managers and general managers voted for the candidates. The names were turned in by each club.

"I checked why Geronimo wasn't on the ballot and they said Del Unser beat him out by one vote," said a Reds official.

Anderson said he believes Geronimo will hit .300 this season and noted that some players named as candidates are platooned while Geronimo plays everyday.

"He's become a good hitter," Anderson said.

At the same time, Pete Rose is listed on the ballot as an outfielder but is now the Reds regular third baseman.

"They told us that all the votes would count for Rose," whether they are for left field or for third base, the Reds official said. "If he doesn't have enough votes to win in the outfield but if he has more than the third basemen, they'll name him the starting third baseman," a Reds official said.

Garvin Signs Pact As Toledo Coach

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Ted Garvin, who led the Toledo Goaldiggers to the International Hockey League Turner Cup championship this season, has tentatively agreed to a new four-year contract as general manager and coach.

The contract reportedly includes a stock deal for a package which, based on the club's profits this past season, would be worth more than $75,000 in the last year of the contract.

Purdue's football team opens the 1975 season at Northwestern on Sept. 13.

Yankees Edge Past Rangers, 7-5

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — New York's Elliott Maddox just circled the Yankees' dressing room for 10 minutes and grinned.

He had struck a mortal blow in his running feud with Texas Rangers' Manager Billy Martin but refused to gloat.

Maddox slammed four hits, collected four RBIs and delivered a game-winning two-run double in the ninth inning Thursday night to give the Yankees a 7-5 victory over the Rangers, who gave up on him a year ago.

It was the only game played in the major leagues Thursday night.

Maddox was embroiled in a beanball controversy with Martin in spring training and it carried over into the regular season last week when Texas visited New York City. Maddox was knocked down and claimed that was done on Martin's orders.

Maddox was asked how it felt to gain a measure of revenge on Martin and the Rangers.

"It's always nice to come back and haunt a team that gave up on you," he said. "I think the bean ball thing is over ... I hope so."

The New York center fielder, whom Rangers' management claimed could neither field nor hit before he was traded, went into the game with one hit for his last 20 times at bat.

"The team made fun of me in the locker room Wednesday night after we beat Kansas City and I just had to laugh," Maddox said. "The irony of the entire thing is that I broke out of the slump against the Rangers.

"I hit two line drives right at somebody, was robbed on two other balls and had a line drive bounce off the pitching rubber right into the second baseman's hands against Kansas City. I was really getting frustrated. I just had to get a hit for a change."

It was the eighth victory in the last 11 games for the streaking Yankees and the sixth loss in a row for the sagging Rangers.

Maddox opened his evening with a triple to score Bobby Bonds, followed with two singles after a groundout, and slashed the clutch double to score Sandy Alomar and Bonds.

Starters Pat Dobson of the Yanks and Clyde Wright of the Rangers were shelled and Dick Tidrow picked up the mound victory in relief. Rookie Jim Umberger was saddled with the loss.

Fleet Maxine Wins Lebanon Feature

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Fleet Maxine broke from third in the stretch and won the $1,000 featured pace mile in the eighth race at Lebanon Raceway Thursday night by a head in 2:10 1-5. The winner paid $11.60, $4 and $3. Lems Tar Mite was second, paying $3 and $2.40 and Double Strength was third for $2.80.

3 Players Share Golf Lead

ATLANTA (AP) — U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin and two of the game's top players, Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller, were in agreement after the opening round of the $225,000 Atlanta Golf Classic.

Each talked about extremely difficult pin placements for opening day competition on the hilly, 6,883-yard par 72 Atlanta Country Club course.

And, each said they liked it.

But, despite the problems it presented, the strongest field in a tournament so far this year still riddled par in the cloudy conditions that produced a heavy half-hour shower at mid-afternoon.

Irwin birdied three of his last four holes to move into a three-way share of the lead with veteran Billy Casper and Joe Imman at six-under-par 66.

Two shots away loomed Nicklaus and Miller, along with Leonard Thompson and Jack Ewing, who had a record-tying 30 on the back nine, which he played first.

"They were the worse pin placements for a Thursday round I've ever seen," said Miller, the outspoken blond who reeled off three early victories on this year's tour. "They're not unfair, just ridiculous."

"I would not categorize them ridiculous," said Irwin. "Difficult, yes. I think courses should be made difficult."

"I thought they were very difficult," said Nicklaus. "But I like that. It's the way it should be all the time. We had 18 tough ones today."

"They had some pins that were unbelievable," said Miller, jesting that the one on No. 7 was in a bunker. "It's good though. It separates the men from the boys."

Seven players were deadlocked at 69, three shots away. They were Lee Trevino, Danny Edwards, Bob E. Smith, Bob Goalby, Lou Graham, Grier Jones and Don Iverson.

Arnold Palmer struggled to a 79 while South African Gary Player had a 73 and Tom Weiskopf a 74.

Frank Robinson's first at-bat as manager of the Cleveland Indians resulted in a home run.

Lou Brock, who stole 118 games for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1974, had 26 games in which he stole two bases.

The Bus Is Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The humble but handy bus, long eclipsed in commuting supremacy by agile autos, is making a dramatic comeback, reports the Road Information Program.

One cause of the bus's new popularity is a federal program that pays 80 per cent of the purchase costs. Signs of the bus's resurgence are everywhere. Minibuses, cheaper and more maneuverable than the standard 40-footers, already are fixtures in downtown Washington and in many suburban communities. Extra-long "articulated" buses that bend in the middle are being test-driven around the country.

Some cities, such as New York, Chicago and Detroit, are casting a nostalgic eye back to double-decker buses that were popular until about 25 years ago. Other innovations in bus travel include dial-a-ride, where passengers telephone for door-to-door service and exclusive lanes that whisk rush-hour buses down expressways past bumper-to-bumper auto traffic. Fourteen cities have reserved more than 50 miles of expressways and streets for commuter buses.

In 1969 the S.S. Manhattan, a tanker, successfully navigated the Northwest Passage through Lancaster Sound to Prince of Wales Strait and Amundsen Gulf ending at the oil fields at Pt. Barrow on Alaska's north coast.

Foundry Industry Grows In West

DES PLAINES, Ill. (AP) — The U.S. foundry industry is experiencing nearly startling growth in the Western States — Colorado to the West Coast — according to Charles E. Fausel, president of the American Foundrymen's Society.

"Within 10 years," Fausel said, "Western foundries may be producing up to 30 per cent of the casting requirements of the U.S., as opposed to only 3.5 per cent as short a time ago as 1968.

"Last year," he went on, "we estimate the West produced about 10 per cent of the nation's castings — approximately 2 million tons out of a 20-million-ton total industry capacity."

Fausel said the healthy foundry situation out West is due largely to western foundries having complied with stiff pollution control legislation early — some of them up to 10 years prior to their eastern counterparts.

The one by three foot gauge had a 10-foot hose attached to it.

Taft Rapped By Possible Election Foe

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Rep. James V. Stanton, D-Ohio, Thursday blasted Sen. Robert Taft for his "sleepiness and unaggressiveness."

Speaking in Taft's hometown, Stanton, himself a possible candidate for the U.S. Senate, said: "Ohio ought to have somebody whose weight carries more than an individual vote."

In an interview, Stanton, of Cleveland, indicated he may face a lively primary contest with former Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, who was defeated by Taft, R-Ohio, in 1970. Metzenbaum, also of Cleveland, later was appointed to the Senate to replace William Saxbe, but was defeated in the 1974 Democratic primary.

The Cleveland Democrat is serving his third congressional term and is a member of the House Public Works Committee and has been active in mass transit and aviation legislation. Stanton has also been an outspoken critic of the United States role in Southeast Asia since 1968.

"It was a mistake from the beginning," Stanton said. He said it was a mistake that "President Johnson got us into it and it was a mistake that President Nixon didn't get us out" sooner.

Stanton said that former Gov. John J. Gilligan has been rumored as a possible primary senatorial candidate but said the prime Democratic contender probably would be Metzenbaum.

Asia Seen Good Area For Business

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—The former U.S. Ambassador to Malaysia said there is a golden opportunity for small and medium sized businesses in Southeast Asia despite United States problems there.

Jack W. Lydman, who retired in 1974, forsores the smaller firms establishing sales offices and even manufacturing plants there. Asian countries would welcome these new businesses, said Lydman, a visiting Woodrow Wilson Fellow at Wilmington College.

"Such nations tend to feel more comfortable with small firms rather than with the giant multi-corporations," he said.

"Such moves would benefit not only smaller American businesses, but American Workers as well," he said adding that his last visit to the area was four months ago.

"It does not automatically follow that American workers will be displaced."

"More overseas trade eventually means more American jobs," he said. Location there of American firms would also help bolster American foreign relations, he said.

Police Charge Dayton Men With Drug-Related Crimes

Two Dayton men have been charged with drug-related crimes by Circleville Police after they allegedly attempted to obtain narcotics from local physicians Thursday afternoon.

Robert J. Knoll and John M. Jandel, both 23, were to appear in Municipal Court Friday on charges of possession of a hypodermic syringe and attempting to obtain narcotics by using a false name.

Police Sgt. Larry Pontious was alerted by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff that the men had attempted to obtain narcotics at the offices of Dr. Robert Anderson, 630 Northridge Rd., and Drs. Charles Hedges and Emily Lutz, 610 Northridge Rd.

They apparently told office personnel that they were addicts enroute from Georgia to Chicago to attend a drug clinic and needed a narcotic drug, dilaudid, to continue the trip.

The men apparently had a prescription bottle for dilaudid and a letter from a drug treatment clinic in Valdosta, Ga.

They apparently used the name "William Jennings" in attempting to fill the prescription at Berger Hospital, Sgt. Pontious said, and were referred to Dr. Robert McCoy.

Sgt. Pontious and Ptl. Jim Francis located one of the men, Knoll, in Dr. McCoy's office, where he was waiting to be referred to a drug treatment clinic.

The officers located the vehicle, which was leased to Jandel, at Franklin and Pickaway Sts. After obtaining permission to search the car, they found two hypodermic needles and a bottle of methadone, a drug used to combat the addictive traits of narcotics.

Salutatorian Mary Horst is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Horst, Route 2. In addition to being an outstanding academic student, Miss Horst has been recognized for her personal appearance. She was an attendant in both the Sweetheart and Homecoming courts. She was also a delegate to Buckeye Girls' State. She plans to attend Ohio Northern University.

Since there were three valedictorians this year, the class has decided to eliminate the traditional valedictory speeches. The four top students will be formally recognized during the ceremonies and will lead the class during the processional and recessional.

The class of '75 has a total of 41 honor graduates. The students comprising the class have chosen the red rose as their class flower and burgundy and ivory as their class colors. Graduation gowns will reflect the class colors.

"Do not follow where the path may lead. Go, instead, where there is no path and leave a trail" was selected as the class motto.

Pastor Carl Zehner of the Trinity Lutheran Church will deliver the special commencement address.

Student Rights Measure Passes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — New procedural guidelines for suspending and expelling public school students were approved 67-25 by the Ohio House on Wednesday.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Sam Speck, R-95 New Concord, was prompted by a landmark U.S. Supreme Court decision earlier this year holding Ohio's present discipline law unconstitutional.

Speck's bill, which now goes to the Senate, requires advance notice and the opportunity for a hearing before a student can be suspended or expelled.

Expelled students also can appeal their expulsion to the board of education. No appeal process is provided students who are suspended.

Bellefontaine Man Returned To Jail

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP)—A Bellefontaine man charged with aggravated murder in the fire deaths of five members of his family was ordered back to jail Wednesday under $50,000 bond.

Hubert Garland was charged with five counts of aggravated murder following an April 13 fire at his home in which his wife and four of his eight children were killed. He later was released from jail on recognizance.

Logan County Common Pleas Court Judge Richard Finefrock ordered Garland jailed Wednesday after he was given affidavits from three teenagers who said Garland threatened over the weekend to kill them, a neighbor and a policeman who is investigating the case.

In the 15th annual commencement, 147 seniors will receive their diplomas from Logan Elm High School. The combined baccalaureate and commencement services will begin at 8 p.m. on June 1 at the McDowell Exchange School gymnasium.

DR. NICHOLAS NYARADI

The class of '75 has selected Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi to be the guest speaker at the commencement exercises. Dr. Nyaradi was born and educated in Hungary and is now an American citizen. He holds two doctorate degrees and was an attorney for 13 years. He was also the legal advisor and executive director of one of the largest banks in Hungary.

Dr. Nyaradi participated in the anti-Nazi underground movement in Hungary during World War II and was part of Hungary's post-war government. Later, he and his wife were forced to flee their native country and he has become an educational and civic leader in the United States.

His speech to the Logan Elm seniors will be entitled "It Isn't Easy to be an American."

Appropriate remarks will be given during the ceremonies by the top three students from the graduating class. Representing the highest grade point averages of the seniors are co-valedictorians Brent Smith and Sandra Strawser Clark. Both have maintained a 3.97 grade point average through their school years.

Salutatorian Pamela Martin ranks next academically with a 3.89 average.

The class of '75 has selected the white rose as their class flower. The 81 boy graduates will wear black gowns and the 68 girls will be attired in scarlet gowns representing the class colors.

"We've learned a lot along the way, but you haven't seen anything yet" was composed by the seniors to represent their philosophy and to serve as their motto.

The 11th annual Westfall commencement will honor 102 seniors this year. The services will be held 8 p.m. June 1 in the high school auditorium. Baccalaureate services will precede the commencement at 2 p.m. on the same day.

The invocation at the baccalaureate will be given by the Rev. Zeller from the Five Points United Methodist Church.

Benediction at the ceremony will be given by the Rev. Jack Lewis of the Darbyville Church of the Nazarene. The Rev. Ed Linbill, a Columbus Methodist pastor, will be the main speaker for the baccalaureate.

Following tradition, commencement speakers are the three scholars of the graduating class. Representing the class of '75 with the highest academic averages are Mary Karn, Therese Monett, and Jane Schein.

'First' Rain Is Slippery

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — When it first starts to rain after a long dry spell, driver beware, warns tiremaker Goodyear.

The company's new Motor Sports Club says that in dry weather an oil film builds up on the highway, and when it first starts to rain there's a mixture of oil and water on the road that is as slippery as ice.

The club says that if it rains really hard for 20 minutes or so, the oil will wash away, but until then roads are dangerous and speeds should be reduced, thus avoiding sharp braking and turning.

August For Brides

LAKEVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Surprising as it may sound, the marrying-month is no longer June—it's August.

The source of this romantic revelation is Cove Haven, honeymoon resort located in the Poconos here.

For a couple of years, August has been the most sought-after month at Cove Haven for newlyweds, according to owner Morris Wilkins, but the phenomenon was attributed to coincidence. However, so far the same is holding true for this August and a number of requests have already arrived for August of 1976.

It's A Village And Don't Forget It

CARMEL, Calif. (AP) — The visitor usually looks on Carmel as an artists' colony with quaint shops and homes. But not the resident. He clings to the "village" character of his home. In fact, the official name of the village is "Carmel by the Sea."

Most residents and business establishments don't have addresses. The result is that most old timers go to the post office every day for their mail.

Delivery men have become accustomed to addresses such as: "Carmelo and 11th, third house on left."

In 1952 the state advised the city fathers they would have to have proper street signs or the gas tax refund would be withheld. Carmel threatened to secede from the union. The state backed off.

Carmel has always been proud of its trees. Trees with streets running around them are common.

Carmel once passed an ordinance making it illegal to sit on the grass. After a fight of three years and a U.S. Supreme Court decision, the law was rescinded. So they passed a new ordinance which rules you can sit on the grass "in a manner which does not harm grass or plants."

Baccalaureate for the 1975 graduating class of Teays Valley High School will be 2 p.m. Sunday in the high school gymnasium. Commencement exercises will be held again this year on the same day as baccalaureate at 8 p.m.

Guest speaker for the baccalaureate service will be Pastor James R. Brown of Pleasant Hill United Methodist Church in Lancaster. Pastor Brown is also principal of the General Sherman Junior High School in Lancaster and was formerly a guidance counselor at Teays Valley.

THOMAS P. BELL

Thomas P. Bell, international speaker from Lexington, Ky., will be the commencement speaker. He has spoken in nearly every state and in the British Isles, France, Germany, Canada and Mexico. In addition to his speaking career, Bell is a partner in the law firm of Fowler, Rouse, Measle and Bell of Lexington.

He is better known as a National Football League official. As such, he has refereed in six championship games and has also worked on two NCAA basketball finals.

Traditionally, Teays Valley High School recognizes scholarship among its students but does not designate a valedictorian and salutatorian. Honor Society graduates will wear gold cords over their commencement robes.

Students are recognized in ten scholastic areas for having the highest point averages. They must have completed a minimum of four units to be considered for honors. Students receiving scholarships are also recognized during the ceremonies.

Showing their school colors, the class of '75 has decided to graduate in blue and gold.

The graduation of the 171 seniors this year marks the 13th annual commencement from Teays Valley High School. This group is 20 stronger than last year's graduating class.

The guests at the commencement will be welcomed by Cindy Beattie, class vice-president and Michael Ohlinger, class president, will deliver the farewell address.

"Go confidently in the direction of your dreams," has been borrowed from Henry David Thoreau as the motto for the Class of '75. The 91 boys and 80 girls selected the blue tipped carnation as their class flower.

A list of Teays Valley graduating seniors, their ages, parents, addresses, course of study and future plans are as follows:

Phosphors 'Tell On' Polluted Air

TOWANDA, Pa. (AP) — Tiny specks of red, yellow, blue and green phosphors, produced here by GTE Sylvania Inc. and invisible to the naked eye, are helping California scientists accurately trace patterns of industrial and automotive air pollution.

Concentrating in the Los Angeles area, scientists recently discovered that polluted air can affect municipalities up to 60 miles away. In a pollution simulation test, the non-toxic phosphor particles were released simultaneously from four locations at smokestack and ground levels. After being borne aloft by wind currents, fallout patterns were determined by up to 80 monitoring stations. Since the phosphor particles have a precise grain size and color and do not exist naturally in nature, they can be readily identified under a microscope.

Preliminary tests have indicated that stationary sources might be responsible for a higher percentage of air pollution than is generally realized.
